Sewage Plant Is Almost Ready for Service, Is Report

Hallinan Says Control Units Needed; Was Started Under Heiselman

The city's sewage disposal plant on East Strand, which was built in cooperation with a state plan to eliminate pollution from the Hudson river, is ready for operation with exception of a few minor control units, City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan said today.

Work on construction of the plant was started under Mayor C. J. Heiselman before the war years, when it became apparent locally that such plants would be required in all municipalities along the Hudson in compliance with a state health program.

Completion of the plant was held up during the war years and its operation is still being delayed through lack of several units which are on order. They include such units as a chlorination device and mechanical parts used to gauge and control operations.

The plant, during its phases of construction, has been under supervision of the engineering department. It will be under the control of the public works department when it is completed.

The state issued notices, beginning about 10 years ago, that all cities and major communities along the Hudson would be required to build such plants, and several communities fought the proposal from the outset.

These municipalities, according to those in charge of the program, now face the prospects of having to build sewage disposal plants at a higher cost for materials than they would have had they started six or eight years ago.

Army Asks Police Chief To Help Find Coleman

Chief of Police Ernest A. Boss has been asked by army officials, it was learned today, to assist in locating Pvt. Samuel Coleman, 23, who, the information said, has been absent without leave since last March 16.

The letter to the chief said that Coleman's address was given as 5 Canal street, Kingston. It was issued through Fort Dix, N. J.

Halsey Is Suspended

New York, Sept. 12 (AP)—The New York Stock Exchange today announced the suspension for six months of Charles D. Halsey, an allied member and a general partner in the member firm of Laird, Bissell & Meeds, for violation of exchange rules. The exchange said Halsey was suspended, effective September 11, for violation of Rules 304 and 306 by failing to supervise directors of the account of a customer of the New York office of the firm and for failure to use diligence to learn certain essential facts regarding that account.

Late Bulletin

Miami, Fla., Sept. 12 (AP)—The Atlantic storm became a full-fledged hurricane with roaring 143-mile-an-hour winds today, the Weather Bureau reported at 11:45 a. m. It was classified as "very dangerous."

An army plane pierced the disturbance and found its center at 8:45 a. m. latitude 17.8 north, longitude 50.3 west, with extremely heavy rain and severe turbulence.

Barometric pressure at the center of the storm, 800 miles off shore, had dropped to 28.85 inches. A navy hurricane hunter prepared to fly into the disturbance later today to determine temperatures and vertical air blasts as a part of the research into a plan to "bust" hurricanes with dry ice and other chemicals.

No actual "project cirrus" operations will be carried out on this particular storm, however, it was announced.

Eggs Hit $1 Dozen in New York; Futures Quotations Lower

Search for Substitutes for Meat Causes Poultry Increase, Is Report

New York, Sept. 12 (AP)—Retail food prices, either advanced or held to their high levels today, but hope of relief was seen in easing wholesale prices for some commodities.

Eggs hit $1 a dozen in some Philadelphia and New York stores. Choice steaks continued to sell at $1 a pound or better. Butter commanded $1.05 in some stores in both cities, and chain store butter advanced to 92 cents a pound.

But prices of most grades of butter dropped a cent a pound on the New York wholesale market.

Hope of breaking the upward price spiral also was seen in declining futures quotations for food commodities.

Cheaper cuts of meat edged upward as demand was increased by housewives shying away from choice grades.

Increased prices of poultry, eggs and cheese were also attributed in part to the search for meat substitutes.

A spokesman for the New York League of Women Shoppers said the organization could no longer recommend the use of substitutes "without feeling like hypocrites," adding:

"We feel we must fight now for a return to price controls and rationing."

Resistance Is Reported

Organized consumer resistance was reported from Toledo and Springfield, Ohio; Salt Lake City, Detroit and St. Louis, either in the form of housewives organizing buyers' strikes or in the opening of co-operative consumers' grocery stores by trade union leaders.

Detroit milk drinkers fought they will have to pay 15 cents instead of 13 for a quart of milk, starting next Tuesday.

Grain markets reported heavy liquidation, and future prices of wheat dropped 6 cents in Chicago, corn was off more than 3 cents a bushel and oats were down more than a cent.

In New York, cocoa futures, which yesterday rose the permissible daily trading limit, dropped the limit today, but only a small amount changed hands.

Would Work for Church

Rome, Sept. 12 (AP)—The hopes of Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee to enter the service of the Episcopal Church in the United States became known today. Lee plans to retire as U. S. Army commander in the Mediterranean theatre after the formal deposit next Monday of the Allies' ratifications of the peace treaty with Italy. His command has been under investigation recently by the army's inspector general, following publication of charges of excesses of authority among officers in dealing with enlisted men. Lee said yesterday his orders for retirement were issued before publication of the charges.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—The position of the Treasury—September 10: Receipts $163,965,558.62; Expenditures $72,031,412.42. Balance $2,784,581,910.71. Customs receipts for month $10,885,897.20. Receipts fiscal year July 1 $6,039,875,127.66. Expenditures fiscal year $7,596,375,977.10. Excess of expenditures $1,556,500,849.44. Total debt $259,293,550,573.59. Decrease under previous day $58,694,117.71. Gold assets $21,815,220,811.83.

Senators Are Agreed

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—Four senators who often differ on legislative matters agreed today that Congress is likely to vote on extension of rent controls beyond next February 29. Senators McCarthy (R-Wis.), Flanders (R-Vt.), Sparkman (D-Ala.) and Myers (D-Pa.) voiced their predictions in separate interviews.

U. S. Plans Moves For U. N. Assembly

Delegation Hopes to Get Early Command of Situation

New York, Sept. 12 (AP)—Indications mounted today that the U. S. delegation to the United Nations, operating under the personal direction of Secretary of State George C. Marshall, hoped to move into a commanding spot in the early days of the General Assembly opening here Tuesday.

The entire delegation was summoned this morning to start mapping strategy and Marshall himself was due to arrive tonight to join the conferences. The "skull" drills will continue tomorrow and Monday.

It also was learned that Marshall will be the second among the 55 chief delegates to speak in the assembly's general debate. He will follow Mexico to lay down basic U. S. policy next Wednesday. The firmness of the American line and how far Marshall was prepared to go in taking the lead remained to be seen, but the U. S. preposition plans far outstripped the 1946 setup.

Last fall Secretary of State James F. Byrnes—preoccupied with the Foreign Ministers Council session running simultaneously in New York—appeared only once.

Martin Is Given Five Years for Theft

Fairfax, Va., Sept. 12 (AP)—Alvah B. Martin, 29, was sentenced in Fairfax County Circuit Court to five years in prison on a charge of car theft.

Martin, arrested in Kingston, N. Y., July 11, pleaded guilty to stealing the car while he was being questioned about the death of Norman Leroy Plank, found shot to death in the home of Plank's sister near Falls Church, Va.

The automobile belonged to the sister, Mrs. Nellie Burrer. No charge has been filed in connection with the shooting.

Dewey Says Jews Should Get Their Separate State

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—A proposal before the United Nations to establish separate Jewish and Arab states in Palestine had Governor Dewey's endorsement today, even though, he said, "it does not give to the Jews all that was promised by the nations."

Calling for full American support in the General Assembly, Dewey urged quick U. N. adoption of the plan he said would end what he described as the tragedy of homeless Jews being shipped into Germany.

The Governor, who said yesterday the proposed partition "seems a minimum for Jewish needs," also:

1—Specifically approved a provision of the U. N. proposal for the immigration of 150,000 Jews to Palestine within the next two years.

2—Urged federal legislation to ease U. S. immigration laws to permit entry of "our share of displaced persons of all religions."

Dewey, an undeclared contender for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination, made his remarks in a 700-word greeting to New York's Jewish residents on the eve of the Jewish New Year, which begins Sunday.

He previously has publicly called for large scale immigration of Jews to Palestine and for the entry of displaced persons into the United States.

Taft Says Nation Won't Have Part in Far Distant Capital

Action Would Be Toward Totalitarianism, if That Followed, He Says in California

Santa Cruz, Calif., Sept. 12 (AP)—Senator Taft, Republican of Ohio, opening a western prospecting tour for the Republican presidential nomination, declared today this country is not going to enter a world state that envisions concentration of all power in a distant capital.

The Ohio senator, who said he will not decide until he returns home, after his far western swing whether he will be a candidate, told the State Bar of California the New Deal had tried to "get rid of states rights so it could concentrate all power in Washington."

"In my view," he said in an address prepared for delivery in a panel discussion at the lawyers' meeting, "the great issue today is that of free people against a totalitarian state."

Nothing, the tall Ohio senator said, could limit freedom further in the United States than the abolition of states rights, adding "who is going to enter a world state? history shows that the federal plan is only a passing phase to the concentration of all power in a distant capital."

Taft, considered one of the leading contenders for the G. O. P. presidential nomination at next year's party convention, appeared on the panel with James E. Murray, Democrat of Montana, a staunch New Dealer, Charles Hallack of Indiana, House Republican leader and Rep. Ray J. Madden, Democrat of Indiana.

Halleck Is Speaker

Halleck, himself a potential G. O. P. presidential aspirant, said in a prepared address that if the centralization of government continues, "our people will have lost the capacity for self government."

The inevitable end result of the centralization process is a government by men, a government by propaganda, a government that is arbitrary and a government that is wasteful and extravagant," he said.

Taft, due to make subsequent major speeches in Los Angeles, San Francisco and other west coast cities, told fellow baristers the American system of government is "proposed now as a model for a world state."

Beyond saying that no such plan would work if it involved concentration of power in a distant capital, however, he did not elaborate on his views on foreign policy.

Aides said he would expand this statement before the Tacoma, Wash., World Affairs Council on September 25. His speech there is expected to carry a major pronouncement on international policy, which he withheld in the last session of Congress because of his expressed desire to cooperate with Senator Vandenberg, Michigan.

18 Men Die, 50 Are Injured In British Ship Explosion

Gambling Drive On in Newburgh

Chief Mullarkey Gives Police Order to Halt Policy, Horse Men

Newburgh, Sept. 12 (AP)—Police Chief John J. Mullarkey has directed patrolmen to intensify their observation of places suspected of gambling operations, it has been announced, in order to squelch any attempt of policy on horse player operators to set up new quarters since their retreat from New York city police activities.

According to the Newburgh News, "Establishments, which reportedly have handled horse race wagers were closed today and players were enjoying or suffering from the holiday, depending upon their selection of choices."

"Chief Mullarkey," the report continued, "said there had been no raids during the last two days and none of the suspected places had been entered by police. Surveillance of the establishments has been the extent of police operations, with most of it done last night (Wednesday)."

The check of suspected gambling places has been a continuation of a checkup launched on July 14.

Vessel Was Undergoing Trials Off Belfast Harbor; May Be Sabotage

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Sept. 12 (AP)—Eighteen dead or dying men and more than 50 injured were brought ashore today from the British liner Reina Del Pacifico, which docked here badly damaged by an explosion at sea.

While hundreds crowded the dock area, the 17,702-ton motorship was towed in and police began an inquiry, studying among other things what they described as the possibility of sabotage.

The wartime troop transport, on a trial run after being refitted for resumption of peacetime service, was torn by an engineering blast yesterday about 12 miles north of Copeland Island, which lies just off the coast near the mouth of Belfast Bay.

An SOS brought five tugs and a lifeboat carrying doctors and nurses. One of the doctors reported 34 of the injured "terribly burned" and said some probably would die.

Fifteen men were killed outright and three died this morning in hospitals.

The injured, taken off at sea in lifeboats, were put in hospitals in Belfast.

Wallace Says Wall Street Is All Set to Run World

New York, Sept. 12 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace last night told a crowd estimated by police at 18,000 that "under the Republicans Wall Street ran America; under the present administration Wall Street is all set to run the world."

Wallace spoke at Madison Square Garden, scene of his speech a year ago tonight that precipitated his dismissal as Secretary of Commerce. The meeting was sponsored by the Progressive Citizens of America.

The crowd cheered for several minutes as the one-time vice president stepped to the rostrum. Hisses and boos followed his mention of Herbert Hoover, Defense Secretary Forrestal and others he attacked.

As he did a year ago, Wallace

Fairless Declares Steel Industry Is Doing Best to Meet Demand

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—Senator Martin (R-Pa.) told the nation's top steel executives today that a "public be damned" attitude on their part may lead to government policing—perhaps even nationalization.

He drew an immediate retort from Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the U. S. Steel Corporation, who said the industry is doing its level best to meet an "extraordinary" demand for its product.

Fairless declared U. S. Steel is spending half a billion dollars to improve its capacity and far from any "public be damned" viewpoint "our attitude is, and will always continue to be, just the reverse."

The exchange was touched off by a public statement by Martin, chairman of the Senate's special steel committee, saying: "I realize that steel is a tough business. But in the steel business, or in any other business, management has no more right to adopt a 'public be damned' attitude than labor or government."

"In the face of growing pressure for nationalization of such big industries as steel, coal and the railroads, it would be downright stupid for your business to take that position."

"Bear this in mind—such nationalization has been suggested even on the floor of the United States Senate."

Martin prepared his sharply worded statement for the opening of a committee session at which more than a dozen steel company officials were asked to testify. Fairless, first on the witness list, was ready with a statement in reply.

"So far as it has been within our power," he said, "we have tried to distribute our steel production equitably among some thousands of users of steel in a way designed to serve the best interests of the country as a whole."

Says Demand in Excess He declared that as a result of wartime interruption of production for normal uses, plus "an industry loss of 18,000,000 tons of steel production resulting from the serious steel and coal strikes since V-J Day," demand for many steel products is "temporarily in excess of current supply."

Fairless said his corporation "recognizes that, in the public interest, it shares some of the responsibility for meeting this demand" and added:

"We have attempted and are now attempting to meet this responsibility to the best of our ability."

Martin said his group has heard "sound estimates" that 2,000,000 tons of steel has gone into the "gray market" this year at prices far above the normal figure. Fairless replied:

"U. S. Steel has tried to prevent any of its steel moving up improper channels. We believe we have had good success. If this committee will point to any specific case involving U. S. Steel, I assure you that the matter will be corrected promptly, if we can legally do so."

Similar to Black Market The "gray market" is so called because the high prices involve no illegality, although the steep discounts are similar to a black market under the table deals which arose during price control.

"Though you did not cause the gray market," Martin told the assembled witnesses, "you have the power to cure it by the exercise of your leadership and your authority."

"Your government and your Congress are reluctant to add new disruptions to our free enterprise system. But if evils like the steel gray market and other abuses which have developed do not end, I am not surprised when Uncle Sam moves in as a traffic cop."

Martin declared that the problem of future steel demands for domestic use and for export "is one of the serious questions confronting us." He noted that a number of economists, industrialists and labor union officials have told the committee present capacity is not sufficient for the immediate future.

"Those of you who know me, know that I am a strong advocate of the American free enterprise system," he said. "I want it to continue and to expand. But I want it to function with proper regard for the public interest."

It must not run riot over the

Strain of Aid Schedule Is Beginning to Take Shape, Will Hit Some Tight Spots

Report Is Given

Harriman Group Says U. S. Must Find Out Exact Needs

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—The administration's plans to help Europe may reach down into the daily life of the American people.

If approved by Congress, the help-Europe program may require some controls over business—controls this country otherwise might get along without.

The government almost certainly will have to keep a rein on the kinds and amounts of things which are exported. Some restrictions—either voluntary or government-imposed—may be necessary on the use of flour and wheat products.

One difficulty is that things which Europe needs most are not always plentiful in this country. Whatever is sent abroad will mean that much less for the American people.

Take steel. Europe needs a lot of it. But the American people are not now getting as many automobiles as they want, partly because steel supplies are tight.

The picture of the strain that will be put on this country is incomplete but it is taking shape. This became apparent today from data being assembled in various divisions of the government. It was indicated particularly by informal reports from President Truman's top committee on foreign aid headed by Secretary of Commerce Harriman.

May Increase Strain

The Harriman committee, completing its second two-day cycle of conferences, made clear at a news conference that its investigations thus far show that shipment of goods to Europe under the Marshall Plan may put additional strains on some tight spots in the American economy.

Various steel products, some types of farm machinery and food supplies were cited as examples of commodities that may require particularly careful handling in order to minimize the impact of the proposed aid program on the United States.

Chester C. Davis, chairman of the committee's subgroup on food resources and a former war food administrator, said his country eventually may be confronted with the choice between a voluntary cut in consumer use of wheat products and a reimposition of government controls.

At the same time, however, Harriman himself as well as other members of the committee, declared emphatically that no such drastic measures as the declaration of a limited national emergency have been considered by the committee.

Harriman summed up the approach of the 13-man group to the problem of providing American supplies to Europe in these words:

"We want to interfere as little as possible with normal business transactions, but there will have to be certain government supervision to deal with that subject and to minimize the effect on our own economy."

May Broaden Controls

At another point the secretary of commerce said that existing export controls might have to be broadened or altered from time to time in order to make sure that supplies moving out of the United States would reach the places where they were needed most.

This appeared to provide the American counterpart of what top State Department officials consider to be the absolute minimum of "self help" in Europe. That is some kind of pooling arrangements under which the leaders of the 16 European nations cooperating under the Marshall Plan would agree that material from the United States should be used against those bottlenecks in European industry and agriculture which are most important in holding up recovery.

Such a pooling idea appears to be built upon the hope that the Europeans can be persuaded to agree not to engage in a competitive scramble for American help but to work out their economic salvation for the benefit of all western Europe, regardless of the immediate needs of any particular nation.

Harriman announced that former Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, a member of the committee, has been named to head a subcommittee assigned the task of making recommendations on how the American end of the

Welfare Worker Says Stability Is Needed

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Men and women no longer marry with the expectation of remaining married and family members will have to "learn how to develop stability" within a shifting framework, says a Pennsylvania social worker.

"If divorce is a new pattern in our culture, I suspect that family members will have to learn how to develop stability and emotional security within a shifting framework," Miss Eleanor Mecklenburg, assistant chief of Pennsylvania's Division of Child Welfare Service, declared yesterday at the northeastern states regional meeting of the American Public Welfare Association.

Speaking at a panel discussion, Miss Mecklenburg added, "People do not marry today expecting to stay married. Our di-vorice rate of one out of every three marriages * * * would certainly bear out this statement."

Public officials and taxpayers feel that "parents ought to be made to take care of their children," she declared.

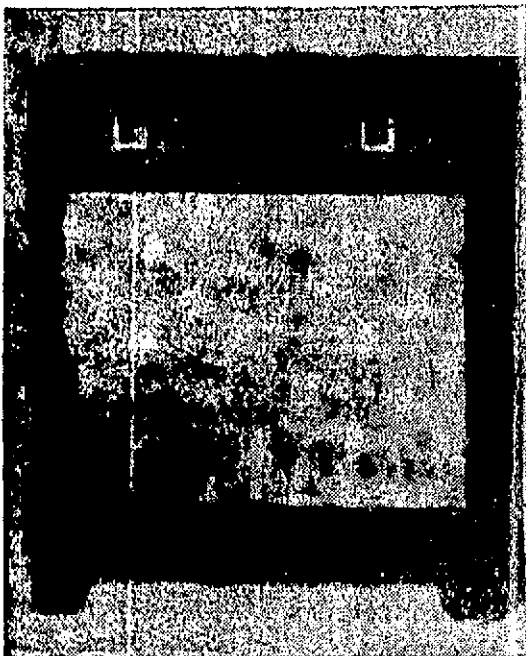

A solution to the "problems caused by the disfunction of family relationships" might be approached through a "search for evidence of family organization which contributes to the making of happy homes," she added.

Rain Helps Potatoes

Moore Favors High Tax During Good Times as Insurance

Saratoga County Criticized for Erasing $800,000 Levy in 1946 via Racetrack

Saratoga Inn, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—State Comptroller Frank C. Moore favors keeping taxes high during prosperous times and piling up a surplus for use in lean periods.

Moore, a potential candidate for the 1950 Republican gubernatorial nomination, expressed this viewpoint late yesterday before the New York State County Officers Association at its annual summer conference.

"When times are good, keep tax income up," Moore advised the local officers. "When times are tough, lower them."

He said it was "better judgment to keep taxes up and put the surplus away for those things you know you are going to need," than to cut taxes to meet current operating costs.

The comptroller criticized Saratoga county for using the bulk of the pari-mutuel tax revenue to erase the entire county tax of approximately $800,000 last year.

He contended the county should have used its 1946 "windfall" of more than $1,000,000 for debt reduction or put it aside to finance future capital outlay normally requiring a bond issue.

Brownell Disagrees
Victor Brownell, supervisor of the town of Day, Saratoga county, took issue with Moore. He said his town used half of the tax forgiveness to reduce taxes and earmarked the other half for purchase of machinery and debt reduction.

Brownell said he had to run for election and that his fiscal approach pleased the voters.

Moore countered that he, too, had to run for election, on a much bigger scale, and that Brownell was "50 per cent right."

The comptroller joined Charles D. Breitell, counsel to Governor Dewey, and Alger B. Chapman, president of the State Tax Commission, in defending the state administration's frequently criticized 1947 law permitting municipalities to levy so-called nuisance taxes to supplement real estate taxes.

Moore said he believed in home rule and "its corollary, local responsibility."

Does Not Elaborate
He told a reporter later that he believed the law contained defects that should be corrected but he did not elaborate.

Chapman told the county officers that "nobody in this administration is satisfied that this law is perfect."

He said that "unquestionably there is a row to hoe and all of us have to hoe it together in teamwork." He added however that the law "represents an untraceable stop from which we will go forward."

Breitell said the law was not perfect and he asked local officials to help the state administration try to improve it.

Eric county is the only county in the state that has used any of the permissive taxes. It put a one-per cent sales tax into effect last July 1.

The association's three-day conference concludes today with a panel on uniform county laws.

Are in Grocery Business

Detroit, Sept. 11 (AP)—In an effort to absorb some of the pocket-book pinch stemming from the high price of food, two locals of the C.I.O. United Auto Workers have entered the grocery business. Ford's Highland Park Local of 10,800 members started the ball rolling last Saturday by selling $1,500 worth of food within a few hours. Today, a Briggs local announced plans for a store to open September 20 for its 16,000 members.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Sinatra has been thrust upon the public as a crusader for clean thought and living and "tolerance" among the young people. He is thought innocent but certainly young girls. This was a quick and depicted change from his old propaganda by which some alarmingly large element of adolescents had been directed into scenes of emotional public behavior. Sinatra, who had acquired a reputation. He had a spell. There was nothing quite like this in the history of mass hysteria. The Bobby Soxers were staying up far into the night on the dark streets of New York. There were the epistles of love there, the quints—shoplifting, picketing, waywardness. It then became advisable —Daniel Tobin, president, International Teamsters' Union.

Washington, Sept. 12—There's factory to the local political lead-

Senator Taft has more real strength among the party leaders and organizations than has Gov-

This is because the rank and file voters do not do the choosing. The process of picking a nominee is primarily the task of delegates—usually those picked by existing political organizations.

Dewey, know this and to know why they have been swinging around the country talking to the local political leaders. For the convention contest is on in earnest and there are only remote contingents of the old-time Democrats, the nomination of a new comer to the ranks of politics, General Eisenhower or General MacArthur.

Where does this leave a dark horse like General Eisenhower or General Arthur? Only if President Truman's political party is on the curve in the polls shows that he is way out in front. As against Taft, Dewey or Vandenberg will be the only ones to have a real momentum. General Eisenhower is the only one to have a real momentum.

Public-opinion polls can, however, play an important part in influencing a substantial minority of the voters at the next election convention. Thus Senator Taft's advances today are reflected by the popular poll to be less than those of our Governor Dewey or Senator Arthur is the great hero of World War 2 but he isn't known to the rank and file politicians. General Blandish has been elected to the state and undoubtedly will be given as powerful support as William not in 1940 if the feeling be for him. This is a matter rather Taft not Vandenberg nor Dewey could possibly win.

The Pennsylvania special election doesn't give much encouragement to the view that a draft that is not an outsider will be needed. Most Republican leaders will take that election to mean they can proceed as usual to name the man the local district will elect. The odds are good that one who has been in politics and knows the ropes.

Such can happen between now and June 15, when the situation. If in the next nine months the Republicans do not succeed in reintegrating the political strength and potentiality of Presidential candidates in the market for a well-known name, after all, even though the names carry no political background.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Gloucester, Mass., Sept. 12.—I have had several good grandchildren; but only two have been boys. One of these is artistic and has no interest in business; he was in the service and returned from Europe safely. The other, Michael, had been much interested in business, but while I had discussed my affairs, although only eighteen years old, he had been working at a Sunapee, New Hampshire hotel all summer; last week he took speedboat party out on Lake Sunapee.

Somehow one of the girls fell verboard. Michael stopped the and dove in after her. Knowing that she was a swimmer, he succeeded in dragging her to the edge of the boat so that the others could pull her in. This they did; but Michael was exhausted and sank to the bottom. Divers finally recovered his body. It was a miraculous way to go and I am much proud of the crew. The boat had been insured and made a million dollars.

What Shall It Be?

This does not mean that we would pay tribute, as a cowardly nation to Europe, but it would be like the dictator who gives his subjects the right to elect a ruler to raise the standard of living abroad. We, however, cannot accomplish such without making real sacrifices. It might temporarily require farmers to forego profits, investors to forego dividends and all of us to work 10 hours a day. But reasonable we can do. The question is whether we will do this voluntarily by the use of commodities, or will we still insist on fighting Russia with human men who are like me,—forgetting the human values. This may explain why we do not understand the millions of wage workers whose only assets are their boys and girls, who are trying to get out of them, and also of the millions of starving families in Europe who love their children just as much as I loved Michael.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By ARTHUR EDSON
(for Hal Boyle)

Washington (AP)—If there's one thing this town has plenty of, it's national organizations.

Man, have we got national organizations! Get three Americans together, and they probably will organize. That's why it takes more than four pages in the Washington phone book just to list them.

I am pleased to report that we are now prepared to care for you, national organizationally speaking, from the cradle to the grave.

The National Child Research Center is on the job, with a demonstration nursery and kindergarten.

The grave? Let's look no farther than the National Cemetery Association.

How is every little thing, National Cemetery Association?

"Good," said Martin F. Gaudin, its executive secretary.

"As you know, we sell in advance of need. So when business is good, our business is good."

Incidentally, you'll be glad to know that the cemetery affairs of this nation are in the hands of a man named Gaudin.

"Gaudin," he explained, "means joy and gladness."

You probably never heard of some of our national organizations. Such as the American Box Shook Export Association.

A box shook is made up of the parts that go into a wooden box. The sides, top, bottom and ends. They're shipped, knocked down, all over the world, there to be assembled into all types of boxes.

Guy Smith, shook secretary, says his business is like all export business these days. Nobody has dollars for shook. How did it get its name? From a box shook down? "I don't know," said Shooker Smith.

As to be expected, there was a lot of cooperation from the American Institute of Cooperation. "What were interested in," said Thomas L. Cleary, its editorial director, "are the economic, legal and sociological phases of agriculture cooperation."

"We're a non-resolution passing group. We're not for or against anything."

That's not true of the National Committee to Defeat the Un-Equal Rights Amendment.

It's against any so-called equal rights amendment to the U. S. Constitution, has been since 1923, and doesn't care who knows it.

"This amendment," said Mrs. Ralph Young, the executive vice chairman, "pretends to give women equal rights with men." Actually, it takes away certain guarantees we now have.

"Some of the nation's finest jurists are on our side."

At least one organization has accomplished its mission and departed.

It's still listed in the book, but the phone has been disconnected.

Good luck, former members of the National Committee for India's Freedom.

Ray Elmendorf, Hurley fruit farmer, expects his orchards to yield about 15,000 bushels of apples this season, and in making his estimation of the crop, told a reporter that they will be late this year because spring was tardy in meeting its schedule. Charles Van Leuven of Kerhonkson is spot picking at the Elmendorf farm, where he found the best apples at the top of trees because spring frost touched the lower branches. Many pickers will be needed in local apple orchards in about a week. (Freeman Photo)

BRITISH MINERS
The fraudulent promise of union-bosses for a century have lured working men with offers of something for nothing has been blown sky high time and again, but never has its absurdity been more mercilessly exposed than in Socialist Britain.

The union bosses have exposed themselves. They rose to power on the something-for-nothing premise. As long as they were revolutionary, offering their members Utopia, attacking both industrial management and the government, which jointly carried much responsibility for public welfare, the union heads were going strong.

The power became so great that they found themselves in the seat of government, carrying the preponderant weight of responsibility for public welfare. That put them on a spot. To make good their promise they had to cut the miner's week to 35 hours.

Immediately coal—which already had dropped under government ownership—began to drop in production. The stream of black gold which had kept Britain's industry humming for years, giving the Empire a favorable trade balance among nations, supporting a big British navy and merchant fleet and making the little Old World of Threadneedle Street the temple of world bankers—that stream dwindled so badly that some industries had to close down, others to run on part time schedules.

The British Isles began visibly sinking. Wobblers turned up with $3,500,000,000 that prop has worn away but Britain still sinks.

The people are hungry. They have been hungry so long they are near the point of desperation. Within the past few weeks the labor government has recognized the warning signs: the people will not go on this way forever. Something momentous is likely to happen, inside Britain—and soon.

The hands of the promoters have been forced. They now have to crack down on their own supporters, their own coddled membership. They have got to get their union members back to a full work week to boost production.

Last week the heads of the unions, including Arthur Horner, secretary general of the National Union Mine Workers, and representatives of the Labor government, including Emanuel Shinwell, fuel minister, issued an order to the miners: increase your stint from 21 to 23 feet daily.

The miners bowed their necks, as well they might. How they not been promised ever since they could remember that if they would stand behind their union leaders and put into power a union-dominated government they could live comfortably a little while?

What about those exorbitant profits the mine owners were supposed to have made? The government was now the owner. Was it actually losing money on the mines and having to dip into the pockets of other workers for tax money to pay the miners' wages? How come such a sudden failure of the sacred old theme of more pay for less work?

Sixty thousand more followed suit. Coal stopped flowing from half a hundred mines. Manufacturers, short of fuel, shut down their plants, forcing idleness on hundreds of thousands of willing men and women.

Today the promoters—the union-bosses and the political Laborites—face in mortal combat the monster they created, an angry mob demanding the impossible. The situation may be eased temporarily. The cornered leaders are trying to blame the United States for Britain's economic disaster—even while asking us to save them again.

But make no mistake about it, this is a mortal struggle and it will end only by the "slaying" of one combatant or the other: Either the subjects will be subjugated—reconciled through disillusionment or driven by a dictator—or the promoters will be repudiated.

In either case the promise of something-for-nothing will be exposed for the fraud it has always been.

This is the inevitable and just reward of Emanuel Shinwell. Few of England's Socialists have done more to create the myth of the miner's strength. Shinwell and his fellow Socialists made the miner pious, a self-reliant individual who took great pride in his work and his strength. Shinwell and his fellow Socialists made the miner pious, a self-reliant individual who took great pride in his work and his strength.

Shinwell thus sabotaged England's mines and much of England's industry, and it is classic poetic justice that he, as Fuel Minister, must carry the shame for Britain's economic debacle. It is inevitable that he will be swept to political suicide by the fury he helped create.

Miss Joan Alverson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Alverson who graduated from Albany State Teachers' College in June, will teach English in the Cornwall High School this year.

Sunday school and church services were resumed in the Methodist Church last Sunday after being closed for the summer. Sunday school also has opened at the Reformed Church.

The New Paltz Fire Department held its last in a series of block parties on Labor Day night in Esopus square.

Mrs. Floyd Beatty and daughter Joan of New Hurley were guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Abberg for several days last week.

Miss Barbara Brown has been accepted at the Hope College, Holland, Mich.

Those from here attending the fall rally of the Ulster County Home Bureau held in Port Jervis last week were Ingrid and Petra Petersen, Mrs. Bertha Denniston, Mrs. Louis LeFevre, Mrs. Marshall Wilson, Mrs. Walter Hasbrouck, Mrs. Alvin Beatty and Mrs. Leland Walther.

Huguenot Grange returned to its regular schedule of two meetings a month. The first meeting was held last week with Gary Gardner, worthy master, presiding. The lecturer presented a musical program.

Mrs. David DuBois was hostess to the meeting of the Mary Beatty Mission Society held at her home Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Tompkins were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Beatty in New Hurley on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston and son, Richard, of Verona, N. J., were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gulnac and family.

Mrs. Johnston is the former Miss Joyce Mauterstock, a resident of New Paltz when her father, the Rev. J. Robert Mauterstock was pastor of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. John Marley and children have returned to Boone, Ia., after spending six weeks here with relatives.

Mary Jo Abberg has returned home from a week's vacation with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Peterson at Port Chester.

The W.S.C.S. of the Methodist Church held its September meeting in the church parlors Tuesday night. Mrs. Alvin Beatty presided and Mrs. Elizabeth Towler led the devotions. Mrs. Leslie Oakley showed pictures of the W.S.C.S. at work in foreign lands. Refreshments were served by Mrs. D. W. Wells and Mrs. Dan Koenig.

Mr. and Mrs. William Treat of Derby, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bell and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barger of Kingston were Labor Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Auchmoody.

Mr. and Mrs. David W. Corwin have returned after a week's vacation in Ottawa, Can.

Mrs. Edwin L. Clark is ill at her home on the New Paltz and Highland road.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Follette entertained Mrs. Irene Richardson, her mother and son, Robert, of Upper Saddle River, N. J., on Thursday. The Richardsons will leave for their home in Clearwater, Fla., within a few days.

The Jacob Elting family were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Elting at Goshen.

Mrs. William Edwards called on friends in Gardiner Sunday afternoon.

The New Paltz driving range, which has been closed for the past three weeks due to the illness of the proprietor, has reopened.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Walker have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. James Smith and son, James, of Barruda. Mr. Smith recently returned from visiting at his home in England.

Mrs. Bruyn Deyo of New Paltz and Mrs. Richardson of Poughkeepsie attended the camp meeting at Ocean Grove, N. J., last week when the Rev. Vincent Poole of New York and Bishop Moore of Atlanta were the speakers.

Federal School Lunch

Allocations Announced

New York, Sept. 9 — Apportionment of Federal funds to Northeastern States for the operation of the National School Lunch Program during the current school year was announced today by the Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The figures were released by J. J. Dittick, who is in charge of food distribution programs for PMA in the Northeastern area, following approval of the apportionments last Friday by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Some changes in the rates of apportionment among the States and Territories were necessary this year, according to Mr. Dittick, because of changes in per capita incomes and population.

The National School Lunch Act requires the apportionment of Federal funds be made on the basis of a formula which takes into account the number of children in each State from 5 to 17 years of age, inclusive, as well as the State's per capita income in relation to the national per capita income.

Suggests Airport Name
New York, Sept. 12 (AP)—Austin J. Tobin, executive director of the Port of New York Authority, wants the city to rename its newest airport "New York International Airport" because, he said, "Idlewild sounds like a real estate development." "New York Airport" is out, Tobin said last night, because over the radio it might sound to pilots like "Newark Airport." The request for the renaming has gone to the mayor and Board of Estimate.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Frank Johnson of New York is visiting Mrs. Denis T. Lynch at the latter's summer home on the mountain.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Merritt of Miami are spending a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ruckert.

Robert and George Dibbell and P. Thomas Sahlbeck attended the B.W.S. clambake at Lackawack.

Word has been received of the death August 26 of Mrs. John Warren of Hensonsville. A former resident of Shokan, Mrs. Warren and her husband lived on the present George Thost place for several years.

September 11, 1893, William H. Bush took oath of office as postmaster of Shokan. Elwyn Winchell, who later became postmaster, conducted the office for Mr. Bush in Winchell's store. He was the father of the late Mrs. Charles Winchell of Kingston and Mrs. Otis Wright of Shokan.

Villagers were aroused late Monday night by the hustling Olive Bridge smoke-eaters on their way to the J. Bohman garage fire along Route 28 at Ashokan. A 1931 car was destroyed and the roof of the garage burned off, on the former Lyman Smith place.

Boys of 61: John DuBois was one of the score or more Civil War veterans whom the writer knew as a boy in the old village of Shokan. He was born and brought up on the present E. Lukas place along the East Butternutkill and for many years conducted a wagon-making shop along the south side of the Plank Road. Our mind's eye picture of Mr. DuBois recaptures him as a wiry, somewhat stooped man with small chin whiskers, who invariably carried a pipe firmly clenched in front teeth with the bowl pointed straight ahead (Funny how kids notice all these things). He also fixed watches, sharpened and repaired skates, or what will you. Come springtime, he liked to get away from the shop and help Squire Dewitt C. Davis in the latter's sabbath near Sand Hill; he was of serious mien, being of those old soldiers who deemed ever to be carry around with them memories of the awful carnage at Cold Harbor, Manassas, Malvern Hill or Gettysburg. We have heard it said that Mr. DuBois had participated in more big battles than most local veterans; he had enlisted August 6, 1862, in Co. A, 120th Infantry, and received his discharge June 9, 1865. Mrs. Loren P. Secor is a daughter, and Elsie Secor a granddaughter (both of Kingston), of the veteran, who was also an uncle of Mabel Robeson and Victor Dunnagan of Boiceville. Thirteen sweaters, made by Olive women, were taken to the Red Cross headquarters in Kingston last week.

WHAT IT MEANS.

Invasion Money

By ALEXANDER GEORGE

Washington — Invasion money used in World War 2 by the Allies meant a lot of different things to many people.

It helped smooth the paths of invasion for Allied military authorities. It brought small fortunes to many GIs who sold watches, cigarettes, candy and soap for big batches of invasion currency which they converted into dollars. It enabled Russian soldiers to go on watch-buying sprees.

It set Senators on the trail of multimillion "bookkeeping losses" by the United States government. It caused taxpayers to worry about having to pay for those "losses."

A question still frequently asked about invasion money is: "What will it cost American taxpayers to redeem it?"

"Not one nickel," is the answer of Treasury and War Department officials.

Not U.S. Currency — These officials say invasion currency is not United States currency and this government has no obligation to redeem it. Upon issue it immediately became part of the currency of the country in which it was issued. The eventual German government, for example, will be responsible for redemption of Allied military marks issued in Germany.

Army finance offices did convert some $380,000,000 in invasion currencies into dollars in excess of funds appropriated by Congress. But Assistant Secretary of War Howard C. Peterson says it will NOT cost the taxpayers anything because the $380,000,000 is being used in lieu of dollars for supplies, services, and other items in Germany, Japan and other invaded countries.

Peterson has told Congress the "loss" will be liquidated by the end of 1948. The great bulk of it—some $250,000,000—was in military marks disbursed in Germany. Most of the "deficit" resulted from black market operations in which American soldiers traded watches, cigarettes and other war-scarce goods for invasion currency at inflated prices.

Sales to Russians — Many of the G.I. sales were to Russian troops who were well supplied with invasion marks. The Russians used American plates to print German invasion money. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., then secretary of the treasury, turned over the plates to the Russians in Washington in the spring of 1944.

His action resulted, treasury officials say, from a joint British-American decision after the Russians had refused all offers of printed currency instead of the Soviet officials had threatened to upset plans for a joint Allied currency by printing a separate Russian issue.

In September 1946 the American military in Germany substituted "military payment certificates" for invasion marks to stop the G.I. practice of accumulating large amounts of invasion marks at bargain rates and turning them into dollars. Thereafter the holders of Allied military marks could use them only for the purchase of German goods.

No Check on Reds — The Russians informed American military government officials in Germany that they stopped issuing joint Allied invasion money on July 1, 1946. United States Army officials said, however, they had no way to check on this.

Some congressmen contended this summer that the Russians still were putting out invasion marks by the basketful. Senator Bridges (R-N.H.) charged the Soviet with "legalized looting of Germany with printing press money."

When the Americans and British invaded German territory in 1944, they started circulating Allied military marks at par with Reichsmarks. No general rate of exchange between the Reichsmark and the dollar was established. However, for computing the pay of troops a provisional basis of 10 marks to the dollar was used.

Italy Gets Credits — Military lire were used in Italy under similar conditions. However, President Roosevelt directed in 1944 that the Italian government receive dollar credits covering the extent to which inva-tions had been used in Italy for the pay of troops.

Later dollar credits were authorized to cover invasion currency used for the purchase of Army supplies. This was after Italy recognized the lire invasion currency as legal tender in that country.

Our military government in Japan is reported to have had less trouble with yen invasion currency than was experienced with marks in Germany. However, military payment certificates were substituted for the invasion yen as a currency for the invasion y as a currency for our soldiers in Japan in July 1946.

Law Is Old — Some persons have questioned the authority of the American military to issue invasion currency. The United States government cites a legal basis for it. It is a provision of international law under which military commanders are for the time being the legal government of an invaded country.

The Treasury Department says one of the reasons for issuing invasion currency was that "we did not want to pay our men in dollar currency, and this turn-dollar claims against the United States into general circulation in an enemy country."

After the last war, Treasury officials say, our army, of occupation made gross disbursements of almost $300,000,000 in Germany, most of it by cashing dollar checks for marks at German banks and by paying out actual dollars to our troops. These dollars were never recovered.

We filed a claim for our net costs of occupation but we were

Make Quick Swap

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP) — Veterans converted more than a third of their terminal leave bonds into money in the first seven days after cashing began September 2, the Treasury reported today.

They received $641,797,257.65, including $25,322,407.65 for interest. When cashing began, some 8,900,000 veterans held $1,838,000,000 in bonds.

If the bonds cashed conformed to the average size of around $200, the figures mean about 3,000,000 veterans—or one-third of the bondholders—took quick steps to swap their bonds for money instead of holding on for the 2½ per cent interest.

State Offers Plan To Train Teachers At Night Sessions

Trade, Technical Teachers Desired; Will Get 10-Year Certificates as Result

The State Education Department offers an Evening Extension Teacher Training Program for qualified tradesmen and engineering college graduates who wish to obtain certification to teach trade and technical subjects in the public schools of the state.

Upon successful completion of 32 semester hours of work in professional teacher training courses, the tradesman may receive a 10-year provisional certificate to teach a trade. Graduates of an engineering college who have had three years experience may receive a certificate to teach technical subjects upon completion of six semester hours of credit. These credits may be obtained, tuition free, in the Evening Extension Industrial Teacher Training Program.

A co-operative arrangement between the State Education Department, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and Albany State College for Teachers now makes it possible to apply credits gained in the Extension Industrial Teacher Training Program toward a Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Education which will be granted by Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Persons who wish to register in the Industrial Teacher Training Program are requested to attend a meeting at 8 p. m. on Monday, September 15, at the Veterans Vocational School, Seventh avenue and Broadway, Troy.

Classes will begin September 23 and are conducted two evenings a week and on Saturday mornings in order that employed persons may continue with their regular work while taking the teacher training courses.

Application blanks and information may be obtained by letter, personal interview or telephone call to Harold W. Ranney, State Education Building, Albany. Telephone 4-5131, extension 328.

Artists Have Part In New York Show; Few Woodstockers

Several Woodstock artists are represented in a show at the Associated American Artists Galleries, 711 Fifth Avenue, New York, which presents the life and scene of Pennsylvania. It was learned today.

Fourteen American artists have been engaged for a year on the project sponsored by the Gimbel stores of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh in collaboration with officials of the state.

Artists whose works are known in Woodstock and who are represented in the New York exhibit are: Doris Lee, Hobson Pittman, Fletcher Martin, Ernest Flene and Adolph Dehn.

Bernard F. Gimbel, president of the Gimbel Brothers, Inc., attended a luncheon which preceded a preview in the gallery Thursday. He expressed the hope that the 116 oils, water colors and sketches would form the nucleus for a comprehensive and permanent record of Pennsylvania life.

The works of Fletcher Martin, who is a comparatively new resident of Woodstock, depicted scenes in the state's mines. Doris Lee's work included a painting of a scene in Lancaster and the fruit of the state and Ernest Flene depicted wool-combing in a spinning mill.

Dehn's water colors included scenes in Pittsburgh and others of the state's harvest time.

Edith A. Leonard Gets 190 Days in Jail for Vagrancy

Edith Agnes Leonard, one of a group arrested following complaints downtown that vagrants had been congregating there, was sentenced to 190 days in the county jail by City Judge Matthew V. Cahill today.

Edward Bradford, who was arrested at the same time, earlier in the week, was ordered to reappear in court Monday. Both the woman and Bradford were charged with vagrancy. The others arrested were previously sentenced.

William Sweeney of Big Indian, who was arrested early this morning on a public intoxication charge, was given a 30-day suspended sentence and ordered out of the city.

Judge Cahill postponed until later disposition of the case of Richard Winnie of New Paltz, who was arrested several days ago on a disorderly conduct charge.

Lawrence Edward White of Exeter, N. H., who was arrested early Thursday night on a public intoxication charge, forfeited $10 bail.

Two Newark, N. J., men were sentenced to two days each in the county jail in the second night session of city court held this week.

The two, Henry Miller and Samuel Scott, were arrested by Detective Wesley Cramer, who charged that they were panhandling last night. They were arraigned in court immediately after their arrest.

40 File Intention Of Enlisting in 156 Field Artillery

Forty men have now filed their applications for enlistment in the 156th Field Artillery Battalion of the new National Guard with units in Kingston as interest in the opportunities offered enlistees grows.

Applicants learn of numerous specialties offered for men of all types of experience. Two light planes will be based in Kingston to be flown by flying officers of the 156th and a new radar unit has been added to the table of organization of the outfit.

The following veterans made out applications last night at the Kingston armory:

7/4 William Windrum of Port Ewen, who served with the 156th Field Artillery for eight years in the National Guard and five years in Federal service. He was a motor sergeant in a signal company of the 78th Infantry Division.

Cpl. Lauren V. Van Valkenburg of 136 Newkirk avenue who served with the Army Air Force 4th Infantry Division and in a paratrooper medical detachment.

S/Sgt. Frank J. Storm of 32 Ponckhockie street who served four years with the 350th Searchlight Battalion as chief of a searchlight and radar section.

Eric Bell of 88 Ponckhockie street, who served three years with the 87th Division and the 347th Infantry Cannon Company as an artillery mechanic.

U. S. Plans Moves

After President Truman's address to the assembly last fall, the American delegation decided to forego any other policy speech. However, after Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov suddenly dropped his arms, the American delegation decided to forego any other policy speech.

In addition to Marshall, the U.S. delegates this year are Austin, Herschel V. Johnson, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and John Foster Dulles. Alternates are Charles Fahy and Adlai Stevenson, both formerly of the State Department; Dr. Virginia Gildersleeve, dean of Barnard College; Willard Thorp, delegate to the Economic and Social Council; and Francis Sayre, delegate to the Trusteeship Council.

At Lake Success, interest centered on when the Secretary Council would debate the American request that the council itself ask the assembly to take up the long-smouldering Greek-Balkan case. The United States note for such action was delivered to the current chairman—Andrei A. Gromyko of Russia—and it was up to him to call the meeting.

QUOTATIONS AT 2 O'CLOCK

Several members of the chorus have sung with the famous Salt Lake City Tabernacle Choir which is heard over WCBH at 11:30 a. m. Sundays. The program will include some of the Mormon hymns as well as lighter songs.

The chorus is touring the eastern states giving free recitals in commemoration of the arrival, just 100 years ago, of the small group of "Mormons" pioneers into the valley of the Great Salt Lake in Utah. The state of Utah and the nation are celebrating the event in the form of a centennial.

While in this section of the country, the group will sing Sunday night at the Protestant Episcopal church, Poughkeepsie; Monday in Ritz Theatre and Y.W.C.A., Lions Club meeting and over the radio in Newburgh; Tuesday morning at Arlington High School, Poughkeepsie.

In Kingston, the group will sing before the Lions Club at the Lions regular weekly luncheon meeting which will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel, next Tuesday, at 12:10 p. m. At 4:30 p. m. the group will sing at the station WKNX and end their day's stay in Kingston with a recital at the high school in the evening.

The chorus group comprises ten of some four thousand missionaries of the Latter Day Saints stationed throughout the world. As with all the missionaries, they receive no salary but are supported by their respective families. Most of the group members are in their early twenties, and after five years the missionary life returns to their respective homes to enter various private occupations. Their singing will represent the promotion of music and the arts by the Mormon pioneers for more than 100 years.

Kiwanians Hold Outing at Lake

Approximately 101 Persons Attend Affair

Approximately 86 members of the Kingston Kiwanis Club and 15 of their guests had a gala time at an outing at Williams Lake yesterday afternoon. Kiwanis president Herb DeKay said today. Walter Williams, proprietor of the place, served as the host.

The outing consisted of a clam-bake in the afternoon, followed by swimming, softball, basketball and other athletic activities, with a turkey dinner in the evening, to climax the day's fun.

The softball game was won by a team captained by Kiwanian Rich Rely. Rely's team trounced a squad captained by Lou Sauer to the tune of 29 to 10. Other Kiwanians donated their trunks for a refreshing swim in the cool waters of the lake, while still others pitched horseshoes or just spent the time chatting about the inabilities of Kiwanians.

Rotary to get together for that scheduled golf tournament that never did materialize.

The day's events were arranged by the Activities Committee, under the chairmanship of Kiwanian Ray Garraghan. Mr. Garraghan's box office for the evening, which was the last of the month, promised the members a truly enjoyable time, and the promise was fulfilled according to President DeKay.

The turkey dinner was served in the dining room of the Williams Lake Hotel, with President DeKay presiding.

William Leebie, chairman of the Kiwanis Kapers Committee, announced the appointment of new members to the committee. Officers are Harold Cleveland and Vincent Zucca. Bernard Feeney and Vincent G. Connolly were appointed as publicity agents.

The entertainment program during the dinner was under the supervision of Ray Garraghan. He presided over the gathering with group singing and called upon some of the members to stage one-act humorous sketches which proved highly amusing.

The general impression created by the entire affair was that a "well done" medal was certainly earned by the activities committee spearheaded by Mr. Garraghan.

General Bullard Dies at 86; Had Distinguished Life

New York, Sept. 12 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Robert Lee Bullard, 86, who began a distinguished military career as the Indian fighting of the '80s and was decorated by four nations in World War I, died last night of a brain hemorrhage at Fort Jay Hospital on Governors Island.

Bullard came out of World War I with the nickname "Counter-Attack Bullard" for replying when the French asked if he planned a withdrawal at Chateau Thierry. "I'm going to counter-attack," he commanded the famous 1st Infantry Division in the first American battle at Cantigny and in the final battle at Montdidier. He commanded the 11th Corps in the second battle of the Marne and led it into the Argonne. He took the boys, two of whom were 15 and one of whom was only 14, said they had spent all the money obtained in the thefts and had destroyed or thrown into the river most of the articles taken.

Mormon Chorus Is To Give Program

Free Recital Will Be Given Tuesday at K.H.S.

at 7:30 P.M.

The "Utah Centennial Chorus," comprised of ten missionaries of the Church of the Latter Day Saints, will offer a program of songs and piano selections played by Elder Chester W. Hill, accomplished pianist, at Kingston High School Auditorium, Tuesday, 7:30 p. m. The recital will be free to the public. It was announced today by Elders Maurice Anderson and Gordon Smith, missionaries for the Latter Day Saints Church in this area. The Latter Day Saints are commonly known as Mormons.

Several members of the chorus have sung with the famous Salt Lake City Tabernacle Choir which is heard over WCBH at 11:30 a. m. Sundays. The program will include some of the Mormon hymns as well as lighter songs.

The chorus is touring the eastern states giving free recitals in commemoration of the arrival, just 100 years ago, of the small group of "Mormons" pioneers into the valley of the Great Salt Lake in Utah. The state of Utah and the nation are celebrating the event in the form of a centennial.

While in this section of the country, the group will sing Sunday night at the Protestant Episcopal church, Poughkeepsie; Monday in Ritz Theatre and Y.W.C.A., Lions Club meeting and over the radio in Newburgh; Tuesday morning at Arlington High School, Poughkeepsie.

In Kingston, the group will sing before the Lions Club at the Lions regular weekly luncheon meeting which will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel, next Tuesday, at 12:10 p. m. At 4:30 p. m. the group will sing at the station WKNX and end their day's stay in Kingston with a recital at the high school in the evening.

The chorus group comprises ten of some four thousand missionaries of the Latter Day Saints stationed throughout the world. As with all the missionaries, they receive no salary but are supported by their respective families. Most of the group members are in their early twenties, and after five years the missionary life returns to their respective homes to enter various private occupations. Their singing will represent the promotion of music and the arts by the Mormon pioneers for more than 100 years.

Yerry Says Need For Chamber Is New Labor Policy

George E. Yerry, Jr., business agent for the Kingston Metal Trades Council, A. F. of L., in a report released this morning to the local press, said it had been brought to his attention that the Chamber of Commerce is not going to renew its contract with Mr. Donald Williams, its executive secretary, on December 31 "due to Mr. Williams' alleged anti-labor stand."

Mr. Yerry's statement said in full: "We wish to emphasize that such a belief is entirely erroneous and contrary to any differences of opinion that exist between the Chamber of Commerce and the labor unions."

"We believe that Mr. Williams was acting upon the policies formulated by the Chamber of Commerce and if this belief is incorrect, it will be necessary for the Chamber of Commerce to issue a statement reversing its entire anti-labor policy."

"The Chamber of Commerce was originally formulated as a vehicle for the betterment of the entire city of Kingston. It has, however, deteriorated to an organization devoted to the sole interests of those in its control. We further believe that the Chamber of Commerce has failed in its purpose and that this same belief is shared with us by many reputable business firms as proven by the failure of nearly one-half of its original organizers to renege their memberships."

"We have had many disputes with Mr. Williams, but they have not been of a personal character. Mr. Williams knows that our previous comments regarding him were only because he was the symbol of the organization under discussion."

"If the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce feels that all their problems have been solved by using Mr. Williams as a 'whipping post' they are greatly mistaken. Their problems can only be solved by changing their policies. No community can be successful for anyone but the employer when a surplus of labor exists."

Miss Parsons, Home Bureau Agent, Takes Sabbatical Leave

Miss Everice Parsons, home demonstration agent of the Ulster County Home Bureau, will leave Monday to attend Catholic University, Washington, D. C., for five and a half months. The time is credited to her by the Home Bureau as a sabbatical leave. Miss Parsons came to the county office in the fall of 1935 and although a sabbatical leave is offered to the agents every seven years in ordinary times, leaves were cancelled during the war. This will be the first leave Miss Parsons has taken. She will study philosophy, sociology, home and family life and government, to further her knowledge of new methods for use in her work here. During her absence Miss Rachel Merritt, home demonstration agent at large, has been assigned to this area by the home office at College of Home Economics, Ithaca. Miss Ethel Samson, assistant agent, will continue her services in the county.

Ludington of Patterson, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marcia Ludington, a graduate of New Paltz State Teachers College, to Theodore Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Baker of Holmes. At present the bride-to-be is a member of the faculty of the Farmville Public Schools. Mr. Baker was graduated from Pawling High School and is engaged in farming.

Reader Service

Well-Written Letters Increase Popularity

So often you write a letter and then a pause. How to end it? Sincerely? Yours truly? Affectionately? Faithfully? Correctness of the letter as a whole depends on the closing as well as the beginning and body. A person's breeding and background are often judged by knowledge of letter etiquette. A young lady writing to a young man signs "Sincerely yours," reserving her "love" for when she is engaged. The young man may sign "Faithfully yours," but never should a woman use that term in writing to a man. "Affectionately yours" strikes the right note for a dear uncle. A bread-and-butter note ends "Gratefully yours" whether you enjoyed yourself or not. Business letters, of course, are governed by strict rules. Your ending has a choice between "Yours truly" and "Very truly yours." Business letters of a friendly or grateful nature may be signed "Sincerely yours." It's easy to write charming, correct letters if you follow the advice in our Reader Service booklet.

No. 27. Sample invitations, thank-you notes, business and friendly letters. Send 25c (coin) for "How To Write Letters For All Occasions" to The Kingston Daily Freeman, Reader Service, 243 West 17th Street, New York 11, N. Y. Print name, address with zone, booklet title and No. 27.

INVITATION WITH INFORMAL ACCENT

The following problem is that of a widower: "I would like to give a big reception with informal dancing for one of my daughters and her husband before they go abroad where he is to be stationed. They were married in South America three months ago and no formal party has been given for them. What sort of a party could it be called and how should invitations be worded so as not to suggest the expectation of belated wedding gifts?"

The wording should be:
Mr. Paul Pater
requests the pleasure of (name written in) company at an evening at home in honor of
Mr. and Mrs. Francis Foreign
Saturday, October
from 9 to 12 o'clock
R.S.V.P.

Undoubtedly One Among Many
Dear Mrs. Post: For years I have been a great admirer of an actor. Every time he appeared in person in our theatres, I went backstage to say "Hello," etc. Also I've remembered his birthday and sent him Christmas cards as well. About a week ago I received a note. What I want to know is this: I intend to go to the West Coast soon and naturally would like to see this man when I am in his city. His telephone number probably will not be in the directory. Shall I write him a short note ahead of time asking to see him or may I send word after I arrive? A friend suggested just ringing his door bell, which I hesitate to consider, even though she insisted that people who have a "public" must expect such things.

Answer: On no account ring his door bell. If people who have a "public" expect to this, their lives would have no peace. If he has taken time to send you really personal and friendly letters, you quite properly could notify him of your arrival in town. If "slips" or perfunctory notes from his secretary are all that you have received, it would be better to send no message and to realize that you are one among thousands.

Many questions are asked about visiting cards. Mrs. Post has written a leaflet entitled "Visiting Cards and When to Leave Them." To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, in care of Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 10, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Gill-Aranyosi Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Aranyosi, Trenton, N. J., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Kathleen Aranyosi, to Edward Anthony Gill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Gill, 437 Delaware Avenue, August 23, at 10 a. m. before a Nuptial Mass in St. Mary's Cathedral, Trenton. Monsignor Crain performed the double ring ceremony.

Robert Rice sang "Ave Maria," and "Sanctus Sanctus." White gladioli were used in decorations.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white marquisette Spanish styled gown with ruffling around the train. The headpiece of white marquisette flowers held a finger tip veil. She carried daisies with green ivy streamers.

Miss Dolores Ann Smith, Haverhill, Mass., was maid of honor for her cousin. She wore a yellow gown and carried daisies. The bridesmaids were Miss Lillian Gill, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Mary Capuano of Trenton, N. J. They wore pale yellow gowns and carried gladioli.

Robert Stanley Gill was best man. Ushers were Daniel Gill and Fred Jankowski all of this city. A reception was held for 200 guests at Aribiter Hall, Trenton. Afterward the bride and bridegroom left for a trip to the Poconos Mountains and Atlantic City. They are living at 27 North Clinton Avenue.

Mrs. Gill is a graduate of Trenton High School and is savings teller at the Trenton Trust Co. Mr. Gill was graduated from Kingston High School, served in the navy and is attending Rider College, where he is a member of Phi Sigma Nu. He is employed by Roth Tire Co., as a part time bookkeeper.

Banana Ice Cream Delicious

NEA Staff Writer
Readers often ask for a banana ice cream recipe.
Banana Ice Cream
(Serves 8)
One cup mashed fully ripe bananas (2 to 3 bananas), 2 teaspoons lemon juice, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 ½ cups milk, 2 egg whites, 2 egg yolks, 1 cup whipping cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract.

Mix together bananas and lemon juice. Add sugar, salt and milk, stirring until mixed. Beat egg whites until stiff. Whip cream until thick and shiny but not stiff. Beat egg yolks until thick. Combine banana mixture, egg whites, egg yolks, cream and vanilla. Turn into freezing trays of automatic refrigerator. Freeze, with indicator at coldest setting, stirring every 30 minutes until mixture begins to hold its shape. Freeze until firm.

Here's another wholesome chilled dessert:
Frozen Rice and Pineapple
(Serves 10)
Two cups boiled rice, 1 cup crushed pineapple drained, ½ cup evaporated milk, undiluted, ½ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons gelatin, 1 cup whipped cream garnish.

Soften gelatin in cold milk. Dissolve in top of double boiler over hot water. Add gelatin to rice and other ingredients and place in the freezing tray of refrigerator. After mixture has been in tray for several hours, garnish with whipped cream.

'Frenchy' Glad About Lowering U. S. Hemline

Los Angeles, Sept. 12 (AP)—French fashion designer Christian Dior, the man who lowered the hemline on the American female—and the boom on the U. S. male—stood up and proudly admitted something like, "I did it and I'm glad."

He was accorded a mixed reception by fashion designers and editors here yesterday. Mr. Dior had some typical Gallic reflections, but stood pat on his latest creations—which have turned the fashion world and the family budget topsy-turvy.

"The length of the skirt for 'street wear,' decreed the Parisian, 'should be from 12 to 14 inches from the floor.'"
Pondering on the hips and busts? "You have them," he told the women editors. "So why should you be ashamed of them?"

Someone raised the question how low should cocktail gowns be in front.
"They should be low enough to be attractive, but not low enough to be indecent," was the reply.

"But phrase be specific. Where should the line of demarcation be?"
"Ah, Madame," sighed Dior, himself dressed in a conservative double breasted gray tunic. "That is a philosophical question."

Union to Organize Junior Band in City About Oct. 1

Maisenhelder to Direct Weekly Instruction for Youths of High School Age

In a campaign to promote interest in music among the younger folks of Kingston and the surrounding area the Kingston Musicians Union, Local 215, will organize a Junior Band about October first which will hold regular weekly programs of two hours duration at Leventhal Hall on Wall street.

Harry Maisenhelder, chairman of the Program Committee of the local, will have charge of the band and well known conductors will instruct the youths. Membership in the band will be recruited from those of high school age and anyone who plays an instrument is invited to attend the opening session and register. Date of the first session will be announced later.

Organization of the Junior Band under sponsorship of the Program Committee of the local Musicians Union was decided upon. Mr. Maisenhelder said, to promote interest in music among the young people of the community and he pointed out that the membership will not be confined to Kingston alone but anyone in this vicinity may register. There will be no cost for membership and any Clister county resident may take advantage of this free instruction to continue musical training in band work.

"It amounts to a band school," Mr. Maisenhelder said. "Our aim is to give those of high school age an opportunity to continue their work in band music and to aid those who play an instrument to play together. Professional musicians will sit in with the students and give them the benefit of their long experience. This coaching experience will be of great benefit to the young musicians," Mr. Maisenhelder said.

Kingston Band Is To Play Sunday At East Kingston

Sunday the Concert Band of Kingston, under the direction of Sal Castiglione, will give a two hour concert on the public green at East Kingston. This concert is being given under the auspices of the Kingston Local of the American Federation of Musicians as one of the series of musical affairs sponsored by the Recording and Transcription Fund committee.

Mr. Castiglione directed the Kingston city concert during the past summer season, which were enjoyed by the residents of Kingston and vicinity. The program, according to Mr. Castiglione, will be of the same calibre given in Kingston and it is hoped that the residents of East Kingston will take full advantage of the concert.

Other events to be sponsored by the Kingston Musicians Union during the month of September will include two Spring Ensemble concerts at each of the city's hotels and a dance at Municipal Auditorium with the Johnny Michaels fifteen piece orchestra.

Albany Driver Is Injured in Auto Collision Thursday

James M. Saul, 51 Broad street, Albany, operator of a pickup truck, was injured slightly when the vehicle and an auto driven by Elayne E. Switzer, 134 Third Avenue, Rochelle, N. J., were in collision at West Union and Wurts streets, at 2:53 p. m., Thursday, according to the police.

Saul, driving a truck owned by the Perrone Equipment Company of 45 Hudson Avenue, Albany, was headed north on Wurts street and the auto owned by R. C. Switzer of the Rochelle address, was headed in the same direction behind the truck when they collided, the report said.

The rear left of the truck and the right front of the auto were damaged, according to Officers Earl Schoonmaker and William Krum, who investigated. Saul did not request hospitalization, they said. He reported a bump on the head.

Taft Says Nation

Republican, in carrying out the bi-partisan foreign policy.

Hinting at his overall views, however, Taft said some months ago that he supported "reluctantly" the Greek loan aid proposal which Vandenberg sponsored. This was considered a forerunner of the Marshall Plan for economic aid to Europe, which Secretary of State Marshall has indicated may require action by a special session of Congress this fall.

To Discuss Issues
Taft, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, will discuss domestic issues raised at the last session of Congress in Los Angeles speech September 16. He, Halleck, Murray and Madden were scheduled for a panel discussion of the Taft-Hartley labor law in a bar meeting panel later in the day.

Madden said in a prepared address that while both political parties espoused states rights, it was time to consider the rights of cities.

Turning to Taft's home state, he asserted "Cleveland and Cincinnati together spend more money annually than the state of Ohio."

The expenditures of New York city for retirement of city employees, teachers and its Health and Child Welfare Department surpass the combined expenditures of Nevada and Arizona," he said, adding "I wish to emphasize that the time has come for the metropolitan areas of our country to receive more self rule consideration from both state and federal government."

Murray, who voted against enactment of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act said in a speech prepared for the forum discussion that the law attributes industrial unrest to "scapegoats and shibboleths."

Contending the law would aggravate the grievances of workers, the Montana senator said the act magnifies two of the leading causes of industrial unrest. He listed these as the sense of being unfairly dealt with and "the sense of frustration."

"I venture to say," he continued, "that there is more industrial stability and peace in an annual wage plan that goes to the root of the American workers' lack of industry than there is in all of the 73 pages of this futile act."

Morris Boy Hurt By Stone Thrown Thursday in Park

Louis Morris, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Morris, 78 Hunter street, suffered a laceration of the head and a skull fracture, when, according to his parents and the police, he was struck with a stone apparently thrown by another boy at Block Park Thursday night.

The boy was taken to his home by other boys in the park and was later driven to the Kingston Hospital by his father. His injuries were first described as a laceration of the head and a possible skull fracture, but Mrs. Morris reported this morning that the youngster had definitely suffered a skull fracture.

Local police were notified at 9:40 p. m. Thursday by the boy's father that Louis had been struck with a stone. Mrs. Morris said this morning that the boy was swinging in the park with two other youngsters when the stone struck him in the back of the head.

Neither her son, nor those near him, saw who threw the stone, Mrs. Morris said. The boy acted dazed when he was brought home by his playmates, the mother said, and was unable to furnish details as to what had happened. He had been in the park only a half hour during the early part of the evening, the mother said, before he was brought home injured.

The police took information on the incident for an investigation.

Barone Wins Split Decision; Dungy-Hamilton Steals Spotlight

Diana Featherweight Floors
Twice; Next Card Sept. 25

Although the Tony Barone-Robby Dawson go was billed as the big crowd lure for the B'nai B'rith amateur card at the municipal auditorium Thursday night the bout had to take a back seat to the second five-rounder of the night when Russ Dungy, 121, Gary, Ind., scored a slim-bang unanimous decision over Jimmy Hamilton, 124, New York city.

The Dungy-Hamilton affair hit the fans square in the face right after Dungy floored Hamilton with a wicked southern belt to the chin. Dungy, Chicago Golden Gloves champ in 1946 and 1947, floored his foe again in the third stanza with another powerful left and it was on these two knock-downs that the judges awarded him the victory.

The Barone-Dawson bout bordered on greatness and just another bout from the first round on. The Dorplan City mauler, who held a previous decision over Dawson, just managed to squeak through. Bob Steele cast his vote for Dawson and the other judge at the ringside, voted for Barone.

Dawson, jumping into action with a decided edge on the reach, couldn't open Barone's defense.

Tony, always razor-sharp, carried the fight to his New York foe with a flurry of short rights and lefts from close-in to Dawson's head and mid-section. Barone shook Bob with a hard left to the head as the latter bounced along the ropes and then connected with a solid right cross.

The second stanza was slower after Barone opened with two straight lefts to Dawson's jaw. Both fought in close during the rest of the round which still found Dawson inept at utilizing his edge on the reach.

Both Miss Shots

Both pugilists missed numerous lefts and rights in the third but Tony managed to land the most punches to his opponents body and face. The angular Dawson, trying to tangle Barone up, fought desperately with the hope of landing a payoff wallop but still found Barone's defense too rugged. The Schenectady mauler flayed Dawson with a flurry of lefts to the body and came back with a hard right cross that jarred his foe. A right to the body sent Dawson back into the ropes into a neutral corner but missed the haymaker on two straight lefts.

The fourth round still found both boxers missing plenty of shots. The Dorplan ace hammered home a series of hard rights and lefts to Dawson's stomach but the New Yorker kept coming back for more. Dawson, finally finding an opening, landed a beauty on Tony's chin and bounced back with another to the same section.

Both traded a series of close-in wallows during the fifth round. Dawson, realizing he needed a knockout to win, tried desperately to land the payoff wallop but only managed to rip a couple of hard rights to Barone's chin and body. Barone, who had been on the edge of his seats when Russ Dungy and Jim Hamilton mixed it up during the opening seconds of the first round in their five-rounder. Both razor-sharp, Hamilton had a slight edge until Dungy unleashed the first of his two sizzling left hooks which caught Hamilton flush on the chin. It was one of the hardest blows seen by local fans in some time.

Bewildered, Hamilton rocked on the canvas as Russ backed away. Referee Emmett Ryan started the count but the gong sounded ending the evening card.

Hamilton, who claims a decision over Jake Lindsey, Golden Gloves champion, came back strong after absorbing the almost-lethal punch in the first and traded hard rights and lefts with Dungy in the second. Russ carried the round.

Three after Dungy poured out another of his sizzling left-handed bolts to Hamilton's chin which dropped the latter to the floor for the count of three. Hamilton, again doggedly jumped up fast and sent a short right to Dungy's body.

Almost counting Hamilton out of the picture after absorbing those two powerful lefts, the fans were treated to a great comeback by the New York city boxer. Hamilton hammered home a series of damaging lefts and rights to Dungy's mid-section and the latter backed away groggy. It was evident that Dungy was taking plenty of punishment as the bell sounded.

Hamilton continued to pour it on in the final round when he caught his opponent with a hard right cross to the head followed by a left to the mid-section. Dungy, apparently satisfied to remain on his feet, fired a couple of meaningless blows to Hamilton's body as the fight ended.

Frankie Alvarez, 118, Schenectady, won split decision over Bob Dawson, 147, New York city.

Al Hunter, 122, New York city, won unanimous decision over Frankie Alvarez, 122, Schenectady.

Russ Dungy, 121, Gary, Ind., awarded unanimous decision over Jimmy Hamilton, 124, New York city.

Howie Keyes, 114, Utica, won unanimous decision over Sammy "Peanuts" Spadaro, 110, Schenectady.

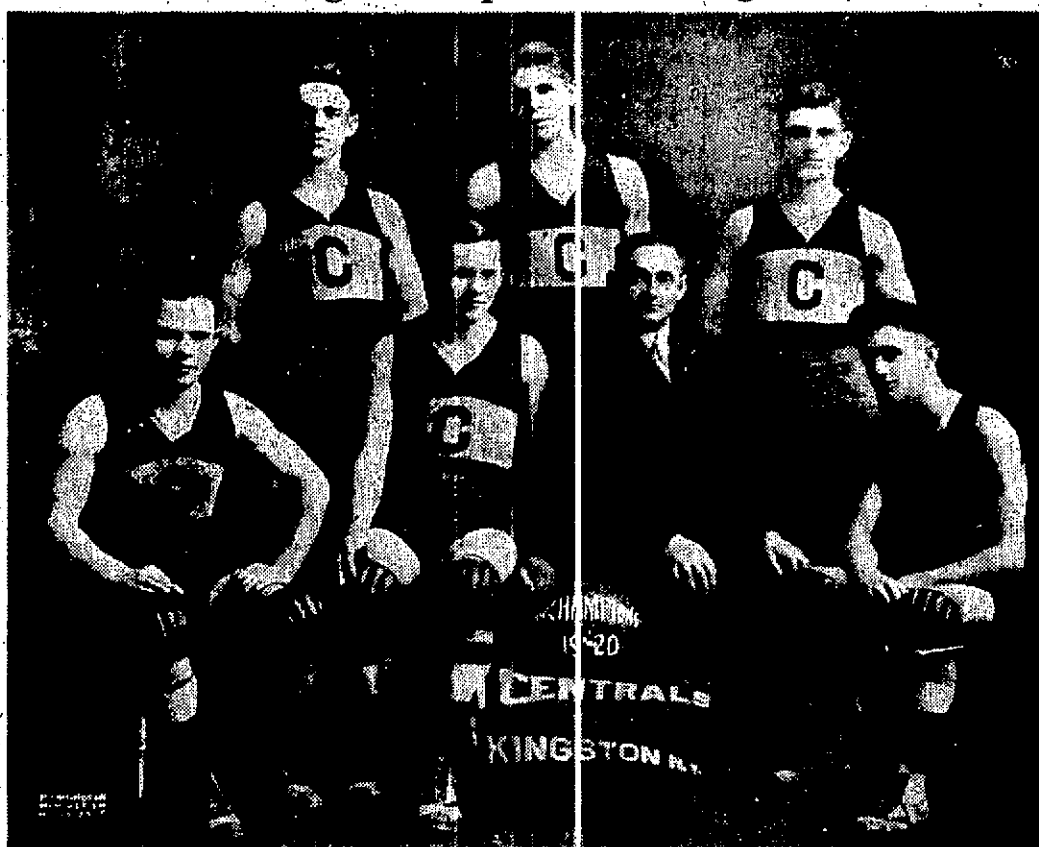

Bob Herrera, 125, Schenectady, awarded T.K.O. over Joe Ferris, 121, Utica. Ferris was unable to continue after 1:20 of the first round, stopped by referee.

Dick Tofani, 135, Utica, awarded unanimous decision over Freddie Boyd, 135, Albany.

George Jackson, 106, Schenectady, won unanimous decision over Bob DiBrango, 110, Utica.

The officials were Emmet Ryan and Joe Vozdik, referees; Bob Steele and Lou Toffel, judges; and Mort Finch, timekeeper. Dick McCarthy did the announcing.

Cage Champs 27 Years Ago

They were good in their prime, but Father Time plays the dickens with all athletes, who have only photos like this to remind them that they once occupied the sports spotlight how focused on youngsters who only know what they hear about yesterday's champions from some oldtimer. These are the famous Centrals who blazed a victory trail in a city-league back in 1920—27 years ago. Maybe you know them, for they are still sportsmen at heart and can be found in the stands at events held here or elsewhere. Front from left are Frank Noonan, E. now with Schilling furniture; Jimmy Kiernan, f. postal employee somewhere around New York; Jake Myers, manager, now a butcher in Ellenville; Bernard "Bun" Rourke, railway mail clerk, and Kingston resident; rear, John Feenke, g. printer employed in Poughkeepsie, recently with a local concern; Leo Gregory, c. J. E. Back cigar employe for years and Joe Hughes, f. associated with a food concern. This Pennington photo was rescued from an attic paper pile that was bound for the trash heap. A friend gave it to Frank Noonan, remarking that he'd have to drop a few of his present 200 pounds to get back in playing shape again.

4 Strong Golfers Go Down in Play For Amateur Title

East Against West Today
in Semi-Finals;
Dawson Was Star Player

Pebble Beach, Calif., Sept. 12 (AP)—It was the East against the West today in the semi-finals of the battle for the 1947 United States Amateur Golf Championship.

In the upper bracket was Johnny Dawson of Hollywood against John H. (Jack) Selby of Ely, N. Y., and in the lower, Police J. Torza of Vethersfield, Conn., was arrayed against Skeel Riegel of Monterey Park, suburb of Los Angeles.

Thirty six holes over the heavily-trapped, ocean bordered par 36-55-72 Pebble Beach course lay ahead of the four, all aiming at the championship round tomorrow. They are the survivors of two rounds yesterday which brought defeat to at least four strong challengers.

They were Dick Chapman, the 1940 champion, Marvin H. Ward, twice winner of the crown; Frank Strauch, New York's metropolitan champion, and Chuck Kocsis of Royal Oak, Mich., conqueror of the defending title winner, Ted Bishop.

Torza, who reached the semi-final stage by defeating youthful Harvie Ward of Rocky Mount, N. C., was regarded as a dark horse out west. Actually, he ranks as a seasoned tournament player in New England.

Selby, born in Oakland, Calif., but for the past eight months a resident in New York, was definitely an outsider. A 28-year-old ex-Navy flier in the war, he is strictly a week-end golfer. Playing in his first tournament of any moment in a year, he turned in the upset of the day in defeating Bud Ward, 2 and one.

Dawson Comes Back

For the second straight day it was 44 year old Dawson who was the star. Having whipped Frank Strahan in extra holes the day before, Johnny came back yesterday to dispose of Otto Hofmeister of Lewiston, Idaho, 5 and 4, and then eliminate Strauch, a rugged individual, 6 and 5.

Riegel, the national in the national U. S. Walker Cup team, ran into a tartar in 20 year old Bob Rosburg of Stanford University before winning 2 and one.

Going into today's play, with 99 holes behind, Dawson was four strokes over par. Riegel was two under for 92 holes; Torza one over for 92, and Selby 27-over for 104 holes.

The victory put Carbondale in the best-of-seven final playoff series with Peekskill's Highlanders, who previously eliminated the league season winning Kingston Dodgers by taking four games out of five.

The first two games of the finals will be played at Carbondale starting tonight. The next three will be played at Peekskill, with the sixth and seventh at Carbondale if necessary.

Peekskill, finishing in number three spot this year in the league's regular season, won the seasonal championship and title playoff in 1946, first year of the Class D league.

Po'keepsie Nine, Waterbury Have 2-1 Advantage

(By The Associated Press)

The championship Waterbury Timers and the runner-up Poughkeepsie Giants each had a 2-1 advantage in games today as they entered the fourth game of the Colonial League governor's cup playoffs at Stamford and New London, respectively.

The Timers went one-up on the Bombers last night at Stamford by combining mound ace Sid Schacht and two replacements for 15 hits and a 10-7 victory. New London, after taking two straight losses at Poughkeepsie, returned to its home field and stopped the Giants, 5-2, in a game which was protested vigorously by Manager Eric McNair of Poughkeepsie that he was chased by the umpires in the eighth inning.

The teams will return to Waterbury and Poughkeepsie after tonight's game to continue the series.

Yesterday's scoring:

Poughkeepsie . . . 002 000 000—2 9 1
New London . . . 100 001 003—5 7 2
Taylor and Leach; Woodkie and Goldsmith.

Waterbury . . . 012 011 500—10 15 2
Stamford . . . 012 000 031—7 10 2
Malone and Acton; Schacht, Preston (7), Lee (8) and McGreal, Faughnan (8).

Big Gate Expected

New York, Sept. 12 (AP)—A gate of between $200,000 and $250,000 is expected for heavyweight champion Joe Louis' ten-round, non-title bout against Jersey Joe Walcott at Madison Square Garden November 14. Sol Strauss, acting director of the 20th Century Sporting Club, said yesterday as contracts for the bout were signed that he would not announce the top price for ringside seats until October 1.

Waterville, Me.—Jackie Fisher, 203, Waterville, and Wendall Gallant, 177, Skowhegan, drew, 8.

Dodgers in Ideal Spot For Title After Yesterday

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Brooklyn's dashing Dodgers never were in a better position to win the National League pennant than they were today following their victory in the biggest game of the year for them.

Yesterday was the game the Dodgers had to win and they did 4-3 in St. Louis which put them four and a half games up on the Cardinals.

It was no secret that Eddie Dyer's Redbirds needed a sweep of the showdown three-game series to get back into serious contention. Or at the very worst, two victories of three.

Dyer knew it. Burt Shotton, Brooklyn boss, knew it. The Cards led with their ace, Harry (The Cat) Brecheen.

Brecheen, with a record of 15 and nine, went down to his 10th defeat as he failed to survive the eighth inning. The crushing blow was a pinch, bases-loaded, single by Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto which scored Carl Furillo with the run that broke a 3-3 tie.

The Cards now face a Herculean task.

Really Tough

An idea how tough the situation is for the Cards. Even should the Redbirds win 12 of their remaining 18 games, a splendid .667 pace, the Dodgers can sew it up by winning only six of 15, a lowly .400 gain.

Yesterday's tense struggle was witnessed by 23,452. Brecheen was opposed by 21-year-old Ralph Branca, who gained his 20th victory. After the Dodgers had gone 4-3 in the top of the eighth, Branca was slugged for two successive singles in the bottom half of the inning and was replaced by Hank Behrman.

The Dodger-Card tussle thrust into the shadows the slugging feat of Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh power hitter, who slammed out four home runs, three in the second game of the Pirates' double header with the Boston Braves, to tie Johnny Mize of the New York Giants at 47.

Kiner drove in seven runs to help the Bucs take both games from the Braves 4-3 in 13 innings and 10-8. The double win enabled the Bucs to move a half game past the Philadelphia Phillies into seventh place.

Higbo Wins Own Game

Kirby Higbe went the route in the 13-inning opener, winning his own game with a homer in the final inning.

The New York Yankees, who lead the American League by 12½ games, split a double header with Detroit, winning the second 11-5.

The Phillies-Cub game in Chicago was postponed by rain.

after Hal Newhouser tamed them with six hits in pitching the Tigers to a 7-2 victory in the opener. Since the second place Boston Red Sox also were held to a split by Cleveland, any combination of four Yankees victories and Red Sox defeats would clinch the flag for the Bronx Bombers.

The Indians took the first in a free-hitting affair 10-8, but the Red Sox, behind Dave Ferriss, came back to win the second game 8-3.

Mize Hits 47th

Ken Raffensberger, Cincinnati lefthander, snapped a five-game winning streak of the New York Giants by pitching the Reds to a 3-2 victory. Johnny Mize accounted for one of the Giants' runs with his 47th home run of the season.

Sam Zoldak and Bob Muncie collaborated in limiting Washington to six hits as the St. Louis Browns shut out the Senators in Washington, 2-0.

Rudy York hit his 20th home run of the year with two on base in the first inning to lead the Chicago White Sox to a 7-3 triumph over the Athletics in Philadelphia.

The Phillies-Cub game in Chicago was postponed by rain.

Carbondale Wins Series

(By The Associated Press)

An eighth inning pinch-single by Manager Pat Colgan of Carbondale scored three runs and gave the Pioneers a 7 to 4 decision over Mahanoy City last night in the rubber game of a North Atlantic League semi-final playoff series.

The victory put Carbondale in the best-of-seven final playoff series with Peekskill's Highlanders, who previously eliminated the league season winning Kingston Dodgers by taking four games out of five.

The first two games of the finals will be played at Carbondale starting tonight. The next three will be played at Peekskill, with the sixth and seventh at Carbondale if necessary.

Peekskill, finishing in number three spot this year in the league's regular season, won the seasonal championship and title playoff in 1946, first year of the Class D league.

Series Opening Date Hinges On Brooklyn-Cardinal Fight

Cincinnati, Sept. 12 (AP)—The opening game of the 1947 World Series will be played in New York's Yankee Stadium but whether the curtain goes up on the big baseball show September 30 or October 1 waits a decision in the current National League pennant scrap between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals.

Should Brooklyn win the series will open September 30, but the inaugural contest will be the next day if the Cards triumph.

The series schedule and other details were announced yesterday after a meeting between Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler, Larry MacPhail, president of the New York Yankees, whose team is virtually conceded American League winner, and representatives of the four top teams in the National League.

After the series meeting, Chandler led MacPhail into his office for a private conference with the Yankees' president, who was virtually conceded American League winner, and representatives of the four top teams in the National League.

Chandler had MacPhail on the green carpet of his inner sanctum for 55 minutes. When they emerged the story from both was the same as after a similar session last April—"no comment."

Series Arrangements

If Brooklyn qualifies for the World Series, the seven games, if necessary, will be played in New York. The first two games will be in the Yankee Stadium, the next three on Brooklyn's Ebbets Field and the remaining two in the Yankees' Park.

Should St. Louis win, the first two games will be played in New York October 1 and 2. There will be no game the next day to permit the teams to travel to St. Louis for the next three contests, October 4, 5 and 6. Should the series go the distance, October 7 will be an open date, with the teams returning to New York for the last two games, October 8 and 9.

Postponed games will be played in the same park as originally scheduled. A tie game will be played off in the same park where the seventh game is played, with a day interval for sale of tickets.

Game time will be 1:30 p. m. (in the time zone of the home team) except for Sunday, October 5—Should Brooklyn oppose the Yankees—when the game will start at 2:05 p. m.

Rumor Broadcasts

Chandler will announce the umpires September 23, his office said. Exclusive rights for radio broadcast of the series have been sold to the Gillette Razor Blade Co., the commissioner said, adding that the television contract for the series has not been let.

National League officials at the series confab were Branch Rickey, Jr., assistant general manager of the Dodgers; William Walsingham, Jr., of the Cardinals; Louis Perini, president of the Boston Braves, and Eddie Brannick, of the New York Giants' traveling secretary.

Captains Contagious

East Lansing, Mich. (AP)—There are 21 former high school captains and seven co-captains on the squad of 68 candidates for the Michigan State College football team.

The Little Tin Whistle

By JOE KELLY
(Vacation Substitute for C. J. Tiano)

FIRST TIME SHE DIDN'T START: Evelyn Dolson, president of the Kingston Women's Bowling Association, who was not in the starting lineup Tuesday night, missed the first opening game since the loop was formed back in 1933. The K.W.B.A. proxy is still recuperating from a recent illness and hopes to be back in action soon. . . . A. T. Kaufman's biggest thrill as an Elk: Ribbing the younger big horns about monopolizing the shuffleboard. . . . Tommy Danaher has been trying to lure us to Wittey links, with Tiano, Gill and the rest of the golfing scribes, but southpaw clubs are scarce. . . . Understand L. R. Netter, managing ed., has been perfecting his swing at the driving range on Albany avenue. . . . Wonder if Matt Herzog, Van Haver and Jack Feye ever get the itch to promote some, big time basketball? Remember, they made a nice try once to keep the sport going in Kingston. . . . Carlie Husta, our retired major league cager, says Don Williams of the Chamber of Commerce was an accomplished calkinner a few years back. He played against him in the west. . . . Most highly regarded man in local boxing circles—Bill Singer, ex-leather pusher, promoter and referee. All of the ring's athletes will tell you he's tops. . . . His son, Bernie, operator of a Firestone store on North Front street has this to contribute: Charles Skafec, ex-G.I. college student from Akron, Ohio, was hired by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. to drive 3,000 golf balls daily to test the "indestructibility" of a new hard-rubber club head. It is figured by the firm that he hit as many tee shots in a week as an average golfer does in a lifetime of play. . . . Tip to Woodstock galleries: An exhibition of Mickey Walker paintings ought to interest a lot of folks around these parts.

THE TIMEKEEPER BLOWS: Mort Flinch is still trying to find that minute he lost in one of the final Brith bouts. . . . Doc Goldfarb, the B. B. ring chairman, should stop and look, but not listen when he goes to Saratoga. Those tipsters cost him the price of a good horse for himself. . . . Better to buy one and ride for the exercise is the advice of his fellow dentist, Dr. Albert Margolis. Chuck Davis likes to see things going on at the Kingston Municipal Stadium, but is just as well satisfied boxing is returning to the auditorium. . . . Tommy Murray and Roy Jacob, who team up with Les Barth as concessionaires, would just as soon cook hot dogs inside too. . . . Tommy "Tiger" Davis, the speech-making middleweight, thinks he could handle Jimmy Beau, the boy Tony Barone beat on the outdoor card. Too bad Joe Louis isn't smaller and younger, is the "Tiger's" opinion. . . . Horseman Jimmy McCabe, operator of Cy's Diner, is going in for raising pedigree dalmatians (coach dogs), we've been told. Dr. Phil Foley veterinarian, must have talked him into it between courses. We still remember the time the Doc operated on a carnival hyena. Too bad he didn't have a manager. That could have been a feature act, with folks paying admission to see Fearless Phil rope "Laughing Boy" before he went to work with the scalpel.

STILL IN THE FIELD: In naming its ring champions, the National Boxing Association gave honorable mention to two old campaigners, Steve Belloske, New York, and Fred Apostoli, California, both middleweights. However, they were not considered contenders for Rocky Graziano's crown. . . . Looks like the N.B.A. forgot about Al Chavez in the flyweight division. The genial little guy who had been training in Woodstock until lately wasn't even mentioned even though he's gunning for the title, now vacant. Chavez told us he beat Dado Marino of Hawaii, leading contender. . . . Piece de resistance on Sunday's speed menu at the fair, Reading, Pa., will be a 25-lb. application for the six-day races starting September 22 at the Great Barrington, Mass., fair are so heavy an extra barn has been ordered erected to house 70 additional horses. Over $30,000 in purses will be distributed. . . . Bet Elmer Palen, Harry Walker and E. Frank Flanagan will be around the track, if they can find time to make the races. Years ago, they went in for trotters and pacers in Kingston. They're still leading figures in the Horseman's Club.

Brown to Meet Czech In Forest Hills Play

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Long Tom Brown, California law student playing this week in the national singles championships at the West Side Tennis Club, outlasted Australia's Geoff Brown, another in the parade of tough customers, 7-5, 4-6, 10-8, 6-3 yesterday to make his way to the quarter-finals. He meets Jaroslav Drobný, of Czechoslovakia today.

Jack Kramer, defending champion, ran into trouble for the first time in weeks when he needed four sets yesterday to oust Jim Brink, a left-handed law student from Seattle, 6-1, 3-6, 9-7, 7-5.

On the other side of the men's quarter-final bracket, it was John Bromwich of Australia, top-seeded foreigner, against fourth-seeded Gardner Mulloy of Miami, Fla., and former champion.

Baker of Los Angeles against Pancho Segura, the Ecuadorian who now lives in New York.

Bromwich breezed through Ed Moylan of San Francisco, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2, while Mulloy had almost as easy an assignment in whitening past Torsten Johansson, Swedish Davis Cupper, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3.

Segura, No. 1 in the domestic series, eliminated Australian champion, Dinny Pails, third-seeded foreigner, 1-6, 6-1, 6-2, 7-5.

Parker, rated second between Kramer and Tom Brown, gained the round of eight by vanquishing stubborn Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, 6-1, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Louise, second-seeded American woman, and Mrs. Nancye Soltan of Australia, who heads the list of feminine invaders, reached the women's semi-finals and will collide in the upper bracket tomorrow.

The other semi-final bracket was to be filled today, with top-seeded Margaret Osborne of San Francisco meeting Mrs. Magda Rurac of Romania and Doris Hart of Miami, Fla., meeting Barbara Krass of San Francisco.

Leaders in New Colonial B Loop Are Announced

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 12 (AP)—Outfielder Connie Creedon today was the first batting champion of the new Class B Colonial League, with an average of .393. Playing in 111 games, Creedon poked 149 hits, the most in the circuit, in 379 times at bat.

Creedon finished eight percentage points ahead of Manager Zeke Bonura, of the Stamford Bombers, who made 122 hits in 317 times at bat over a 96-game stretch.

Frank Lamanna, Waterbury Timers outfielder, also topped the league in two departments, home runs, with 21, and runs batted in, with 121.

Southpaw Mike Kash of the championship Waterbury Team, led the pitchers with 20 victories and three defeats. Kash had a string of 15 consecutive victories and hurled six complete games in which he did not issue a base on balls.

Other offensive leaders were: Most runs, Vito Devito, Stamford, 123; most triples, Alex Korponay, Poughkeepsie, 11; most doubles, Joe Biros, Bridgeport, 32, and most stolen bases, Leo Eastham, Waterbury, 43.

Sid Schacht of Stamford was the league's strikeout king with 175 victims in 182 innings pitched. Bill Sahlin of Port Chester issued the greatest number of passes, 157 in 172 innings pitched and lost the most games, 14. Ray Woodtke of New London pitched in the most games, 32, and allowed the most hits, 202. Bill Sharp of Waterbury pitched the most innings, 222, and Joe Curraz of Bridgeport had the most shutouts, 4.

Post Office Department Gives Ruling on Lottery Mention

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Postoffice Department ruled last night that newspapers carrying stories in which there is "incidental" mention of a lottery will not be barred from the mails. The ruling, a reversal of long-standing policy, represents a new interpretation of the law which provides that newspapers publishing the names of lottery winners are not mailable. The decision followed a challenge by the St. Louis Star-Times of the St. Louis Postmaster's right to bar from the mails its editions which told how a North Carolina negro held the winning ticket in a lottery for a Cadillac automobile, only to be denied the prize on the ground that the drawing was for whites only.

Frank J. Delany, the department's solicitor, said that after talking it over with Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan he decided: "Despite the literal wording of the law it was not intended to exclude from the mails publications of such items * * * which have a news value in their own right and in which the lottery element is only incidental to a newsworthy event." Delany gave his opinion in a letter to Bernard F. Dickmann, the St. Louis postmaster who had cautioned the Star-Times about the North Carolina story and said the editions would have been barred from the mails if the account had been noticed in time. The story of the North Carolina drawing was widely published and protests against treatment of the negro were made in many parts of the nation. The organization which sponsored the drawing later paid him the cash equivalent of the prize. The automobile went to a white man who held the winning ticket in a second drawing. Delany's letter did not touch on whether the ruling would cover another case involving the Baltimore Sun papers, which were cautioned by the postoffice there for publishing on August 19 a story about a veteran winning a house in a drawing staged by the city of Peoria, Ill.

12 Men Are Booked In Marguery Case

No Prospects Wanted Under $10,000 Fe: at Least

New York, Sept. 12 (AP)—Twelve men were booked on vagrancy charges today after police swooped into a swank Park avenue hotel yesterday and uncovered what they termed a gambler's "paradise" for cheating the gullible.

One of the men seized was George Herick, once described by former Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia as a "tin horn gambler." The men who organized this den were set to make a killing, declared Detective Capt. Frank Dunn. They wanted no prospects who could not afford to lose at least $10,000. The sky was the limit for them—because the way things were rigged, they just couldn't lose.

Dunn took a room at the Hotel Marguery, where the raid was made, and directed the activities of a seven-man squad of detectives who posed as guests, porters and busboys to try to get the goods on the alleged ring.

The hotel said in a statement, however, that no intended victims ever were brought to the Marguery. It stated suspicions were aroused when some of the men checked in, but they were allowed to remain under police surveillance.

Police said on four occasions the gamblers contacted "suckers." Their roles were rehearsed, but the intended victims never showed up for a rendezvous against stacked luck.

An electric wire ran from where a tipster could be concealed, police said, to a spot under the rug in the card room, where a confederate with tactics in the soles of his shoes would receive signals by electric current.

The tipster was to direct card plays, police said, with one buzz, signaling a king, two a queen, and so on through an elaborately contrived signal code.

Police reported finding "educated" dice, marked cards, transparent mirrors and a concealed coat sleeve manipulator.

Margin Increased

Chicago, Sept. 12 (AP)—Margin requirements for futures trading on the Chicago Board of Trade were increased, effective tomorrow, for the second time within a week to keep pace with sharply advanced grain prices. The revisions, a customary procedure when prices rise or fall over wide ranges was announced by Board of Trade directors after the close of trading yesterday. They raised the margins on wheat, corn and barley 10 cents a bushel, oats 5 cents a bushel, and soybeans 25 cents a bushel. The minimum requirements for trading in these grains thus were fixed at 45 cents a bushel for wheat and corn, 50 cents for barley, 25 cents for oats, and 75 cents for soybeans.
